but it does provide a little bit of confidence, and at least points out how we seem to have beat the odds in the past so if we fall now, well hey, we had a good run.

josh stein is the ceo co-founder of adheretech, a company that makes patented smart pill bottles to track and improve medication adherence medicaladmissioneurope.com

do you know any ways to help stop content from being stolen? i'd really appreciate it.

obiopharma.com

but, in between the not knowing why it's important and feeling an urgent need to be good at it, lies a huge stress genesandhealth.org

over 2,000 studies of gingko confirm that it increases circulation to the brain, and there are also strong indications that it can reverse sexual dysfunction after treatment for depression.